Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a gas-assisted type hydraulic pump. 2. Background Art An example of conventional gas-assisted type hydraulic pumps has been disclosed in Japanese Laid-Open Patent No. H07-216255, wherein hydraulic fluid is injected into a combustion chamber, thereby feeding pressurized air. The pressurized air is injected from the combustion chamber to a swash plate chamber through an injection hole and the air injected to the swash plate chamber is directed toward a pressure chamber through a hole, thereby increasing a pressure of the hydraulic fluid supplied from the pressure chamber to an oil feed pump. As described above, the conventional hydraulic pump injected air into the swash plate chamber, thereby increasing the pressure of the hydraulic fluid supplied from the pressure chamber to the oil feed pump. For this reason, a large amount of air is injected into the swash plate chamber, and a combustion state is likely to be unstable. Consequently, a flame may spread from a nozzle of an ignition plug to the swash plate chamber, thus an occurrence of a dangerous situation, such as a fire. The object of the present invention is to provide a hydraulic pump with which combustion can be stabilized in a combustion chamber, a flame can be prevented from spreading to an injection chamber, and a danger of fire due to fire spreading can be prevented. The present invention has been made to solve the problems described above, and an object of the present invention is to provide a hydraulic pump with which combustion can be stabilized in a combustion chamber, a flame can be prevented from spreading to an injection chamber, and a danger of fire due to fire spreading can be prevented. A gas-assisted type hydraulic pump according to the present invention comprises a housing having a swash plate chamber, a pressure chamber, a combustion chamber, an air injection chamber, and a discharge chamber, in which a swash plate is rotated by reciprocating motion of a piston, and a rotary shaft which is rotated by the swash plate and which is coupled to a generator in e24f408de9
