How it works

Creating a user profile

When you first open up the StockMarketEye app, you'll have a chance to configure it to your personal taste. You'll be asked to provide the following:

- Full name (or company name)
- Username
- Password
- Bank account for transferring funds
- Email address
- Contact phone number
- Country
- State or province
- City or town
- Addresses
- Your saved trading strategies
- Browser type
- Some more profile information

Creating a watchlist Creating a watchlist is essential, and it requires a lot of information to be provided. To create a watchlist, you first have to enter the ticker you wish to follow. This is a short description of the company. For example, if you're interested in US stocks, you'd enter MSFT. For international stocks, enter GOOG. You'll also have to provide a description of the company. If you're really looking for a specific company, like HP, you can provide that info. The following are details you can add:

- Name - Short description
